

ABSTRACT

The researchers conducted the study “ The Implications of Vices in Marital Satisfaction Among Selected Couples in Langkaan Dasmariñas, Cavite. “ There were 18 qualified couples considered as the legitimate respondents from the sum total of 25 since the rest of the couples asked of the survey do not have vice at all. To determine the implication of vices in Marital Satisfaction, the descriptive-comparative method was utilized alongside F-test one-way to be able to understand the significant difference in marital satisfaction . The result then gave a computed F value equivalent to 1.35 while 3.16 tabular F resulted at 0.05 significance level.

The result gotten was opposite of what is expected when there was no significant difference in the marital satisfaction level of gamblers, smokers and alcoholics found, thus, accepting the null hypothesis.

The beliefs that vices have an implication in marital satisfaction of couples then do not hold true among selected couples in Langkaan, Dasmariñas , Cavite while the result of the analysis based on the survey proved this.
