

DE LA SALLE UNIVERSITY

ADIAN VAN KAAM'S FORMATION SCIENCE AND FORMATIVE SPIRITUALITY
SOME IMPLICATIONS FOR RELIGIOUS EDUCATION (WITH SPECIAL REFERENCE TO THE PHILIPPINES AND OTHER AREAS OF ASIA)

A Dissertation

Presented to the Graduate School of Education, Arts and Sciences

De La Salle University

In Partial Fulfillment

of the Requirements for the Degree
Doctor of Education

by

Brother William Garvey, F.S.C.

June 1989

DE LA SALLE UNIVERSITY

TABLE OF CONTENTS

CHAPTER	PAGE
1. THE PROBLEM	1
1. Statement of the Problem	1
2. Objectives of the Study.	5
3. Significance of the Study.	5
4. Assumptions of the Study	6
5. Scope of the Study	7
6. Delimitations of the Study	9
7. Limitations of the Study	11
8. Review of Literature	11
9. Definition of Terms.	19
10. Outline of the Study	19
2. FORMATION SCIENCE AND FORMATIVE SPIRITUALITY	23
1. The Thinking of Adrian van Kaam and the Duquesne Institute of Formative Spirituality	23
1.1 Adrian van Kaam and the Faculty of the Duquesne Institute of Formative Spirituality.	23
1.2 The Purpose and Vision of the Institute of Formative Spirituality.	25
1.3 The History of the Institute of Formative Spirituality.	27

DE LA SALLE UNIVERSITY

iv

CHAPTER	PAGE
1.4 Basic Meaning of Formative Spirituality	30
1.4.1 Formative Spirituality	30
1.4.2 Christian Spirituality	31
2. The Nature of Formation Science and Formative Spirituality	32
2.1 The Terms: Formation Science and Formative Spirituality	33
2.1.1 Formation Science.	33
2.1.2 Formative Spirituality	44
2.2 Four Essential Concepts for An Understanding of Formation Science and Formative Spirituality: Formation, Cosmic Formation, Spirituality or Distinctively Human Formation, Christian Formation	49
2.2.1 Formation.	49
2.2.1.1 Underlying Concept in Formation	49
2.2.1.2 The Mystery of Formation (Formation Mystery)	52
2.2.2 Cosmic Formation	61
2.2.3 Spiritual or Distinctively Human Formation.	63
2.2.4 Christian Formation.	74
2.3 Formation, Reformation, Transformation	79

DE LA SALLE UNIVERSITY

v

CHAPTER	PAGE
2.4 The Relationship of Formation Science to Christian Spirituality	83
2.5 The Infrastructural Principles of Formation Science and Formative Spirituality	84
2.5.1 The First Infrastructural Principle: Form Potency . .	86
2.5.2 The Second Infrastructural Principle in Formation Anthropology: On-going Formation	88
2.5.3 The Third Infrastructural Principle of Formative Anthropology: The Formation Field Principle. .	91
2.5.4 The Fourth Infrastructural Principle: Tradition.	97
2.5.5 The Fifth Infrastructural Principle: Maintenance of the Conviction of Proximate Form Effectiveness or Form Potency.	106
2.6 The Suprastructural Principles and Constructs of Formation Science and Formative Spirituality (Personality Theory)	107
2.6.1 Personality Theory	107
2.6.2 The Elements of Intraformation: Foundational Life Form, Empirical Form, Form Levels, Dimensions, Dynamics, Dispositions . . .	113
2.6.2.1 Foundational Life Form and Empirical Life Form	113

CHAPTER	PAGE
2.6.2.2 Form Levels	117
2.6.2.3 Form Dimensions	121
2.6.2.4 Dynamics and Dispositions	123
2.6.2.5 The Inter-relationships of Foundational Life Form, Empirical Form, Form Levels, Dimensions, Dynamics, and Dispositions	126
2.7 Four Important Concepts in the Process of Formation, Reformation, and Transformation: Transcendent Self Presence, Epiphany, Contemplation, Consonant Actions	139
2.7.1 Transcendent Self Presence	139
2.7.2 Epiphany	143
2.7.3 Contemplation	146
2.7.4 Consonant Actions	151
2.8 Summary	152
2.8.1 Formation Science and Formative Spirituality	152
2.8.1.1 Formation Science	152
2.8.1.2 Formative Spirituality	153
2.8.2 Formation	155
2.8.3 The Mystery of Formation	155

DE LA SALLE UNIVERSITY

vii

CHAPTER	PAGE
2.8.4 Cosmic Formation.	157
2.8.5 Spiritual or Distinctively Human Formation.	158
2.8.6 Christian Formation	160
2.8.7 Formation, Reformation, and Transformation.	161
3. An Evaluation of Formation Science/ Formative Spirituality.	163
3. SOME IMPLICATIONS FOR FORMATION SCIENCE AND FORMATIVE SPIRITUALITY IN THE AREAS OF FORMATIVE READING, CHRISTIAN PRAYER, LITURGY, APPROACHES TO PERSONALITY DEVELOPMENT, SPIRITUAL DIRECTION, CHRISTIAN MINISTRY, CHRISTIAN SOCIAL JUSTICE, AND SOME SPECIAL IMPLICATIONS FOR THE PHILIPPINES AND ASIA.	164
1. Implications Regarding Formative Reading	162
1.1 The Nature of Formative Reading.	162
1.2 Formative Reading of the Scriptures	175
1.3 Formative Reading of the Spiritual Masters	178
2. Implications Regarding Christian Prayer.	181
3. Implications Regarding the Liturgy.	189
3.1 Liturgy as Formation	189
3.2 The Mystery and Mystery as Eschaton	197
3.3 Faith and Form Traditions.	201

DE LA SALLE UNIVERSITY

viii

CHAPTER	PAGE
3.4 Levels of Consciousness.	205
4. Implications Regarding Personality Development	209
5. Implications Regarding Spiritual Direction	212
5.1 Some Special Foundational Assumptions for a Discussion of Spiritual Direction.	213
5.2 The Definition of Formative Spiritual Direction.	215
5.3 The Purpose of Formative Spiritual Direction.	219
5.4 Some Concepts with at Least Implied Implications Regarding Spiritual Direction.	222
5.4.1 Foundational Life Form. . .	222
5.4.2 Powers of the Human Person to Donate and Receive Forms	224
5.5 Levels of Consciousness.	227
5.6 Dispositions.	228
5.7 Formation.	231
5.8 The Mystery.	233
5.9 Pride Form	235
5.10 Faith and Form Traditions.	236
5.11 Crisis	237
5.12 Appraisal.	239
6. Implications Regarding Ministry	241

DE LA SALLE UNIVERSITY

ix

CHAPTER	PAGE
7. Implications Regarding Social Justice.	245
8. Some Implications for the Philippines and Some Areas of Asia (in the Light of Some Major Religions in Asia)	252
8.1 Some Christian Implications for the Philippines	252
8.1.1 Some Implications Regarding Some Random Aspects of the Filipino People/ Philippines.	252
8.1.1.1 Closeness to Nature.	252
8.1.1.2 Calmness.	253
8.1.1.3 Fate.	254
8.1.1.4 Devotional Religion.	255
8.1.1.5 Liberation Theology.	256
8.1.1.6 Still Some Primitive Tribes. .	257
8.1.1.7 Split-level Christianity.	258
8.1.2 The Identity of the Filipino People.	259
8.1.3 The Identity of the Filipino Catholic Christian.	261
8.1.4 The Reality of the Filipino People	266

DE LA SALLE UNIVERSITY

x

CHAPTER	PAGE
8.1.5 Some Formative Spirituality Implications or Parallels from Some Contemporary Literature that could be Applied to the Philippines	270
8.2 Some Implications for Some Other Areas of Asia (in the Light of Some Major Religions of Asia) . . .	280
8.2.1 Implications Regarding Faith and Form Traditions . .	280
8.2.2 Implications Regarding the Discipline of Formative Spirituality	288
8.2.3 Implications Regarding Graced Transformation of All Peoples.	290
9. A Summary of Chapter 3	292
4. FORMATION SCIENCE, FORMATIVE SPIRITUALITY, AND RELIGIOUS EDUCATION	293
1. The Meanings of Religious Education	293
1.1 Important Areas for Reflection Before Arriving at a Meaning of Religious Education	293
1.2 Narrowing the Meanings of Religious Education	294
2. Some Implications Regarding Formation Science/Formative Spirituality in the Forms of Religious Education (Including Christian Education and Catechesis)	298
2.1 Some Implications Regarding Formative Reading	299

CHAPTER	PAGE
2.2 Some Implications Regarding Prayer	299
2.3 Some Implications Regarding Liturgy	301
2.4 Some Implications Regarding Personality Development	302
2.5 Some Implications Regarding Spiritual Direction	303
2.6 Some Implications Regarding Ministry	304
2.7 Some Implications Regarding Social Justice	304
2.8 Some Implications Regarding Formation Science/Formative Spirituality as Religious Education in the Philippines	306
2.9 Some Implications Regarding Formation Science/Formative Spirituality in Some Areas of Asia (in the Context of Non-Christian Religious Faith Traditions)	310
3. Summary of Chapter 4	313
5. SUMMARY, CONCLUSIONS, DIRECTIONS FOR FUTURE RESEARCH	315
1. Summary	315
2. Conclusions	316
3. Directions for Future Research	317
NOTES	319
BIBLIOGRAPHY	335

DE LA SALLE UNIVERSITY

xii

DE LA SALLE UNIVERSITY

CHAPTER 5

SUMMARY, CONCLUSIONS, DIRECTIONS FOR FUTURE RESEARCH

1. Summary

The dissertation basically accomplished three things:

1.1 It has given a systematic presentation of formation science and formative spirituality as taught by Duquesne's Institute of Formative Spirituality. This is one of the first times that this has been done in a dissertation in the Philippines (and with special implications for the Philippines and other areas of Asia)

1.2 The dissertation has shown how formation science/formative spirituality has implications in the areas of reading, prayer, liturgy, theories of personality development, spiritual direction, ministry and social justice. The dissertation has shown how formation science/formative spirituality can have many and varied implications for the Philippines and some other areas of Asia (according to their religious faith traditions).

1.3 The dissertation has stated evidence that twentieth century writers on education and genuine human growth can be grouped into three headings entitled religious education, Christian education, and catechesis. The dissertation has shown how formation science/formative spirituality can be applied in each and all of these headings, and has shown this by a number of concrete implications (which include some implications for education in the Philippines and other areas of Asia).

2. Conclusions

The conclusions of the dissertation are manifold and varied. The dissertation accepts the excellence of formation science/formative spirituality as taught by the Institute of Formative Spirituality. The dissertation is very appreciative of the varied and creative implications that formation science/formative spirituality has in the areas of reading, prayer, liturgy, personality development, spiritual direction, ministry, and social justice; and how such implications can be seen in various ways both in the Philippines and other areas of Asia. The dissertation accepts a possible threefold division of twentieth century writings on education to normal human growth: religious education, Christian education, and catechesis. The dissertation concludes that formation science/formative spirituality is applicable in each and all of these three categories of education, and that it has many and varied implications for these three educational categories (and with some special applications to these three categories in the Philippines and other areas of Asia depending on religious faith traditions).

3. Directions for Future Research

The Institute of Formative Spirituality's formation science and formative spirituality do not claim a static or definitive body of knowledge. It is the realization of the Institute that its science/spirituality is ever open to more development and especially in light of the developments of the sciences (and arts) which formation science seeks continually to integrate.

The area of religious education (including Christian education and catechesis) is also an on-going area of theoretical and practical development and is continually open to creative and scientific advancement and research in its field.

This dissertation is one of the first major works to apply formation science/formative spirituality to religious education (in the threefold division of religious education, Christian education, and catechesis). And since the fields of formation science/formative spirituality and of religious education (as understood in this dissertation) are open to continuing research in their areas, it is true to say that the applications and implications of formation science/formative spirituality in the area of such religious education are open to further research and theorizing. This dissertation would point to further research and theorizing of that nature in the areas of reading, prayer, personality development, spiritual direction, ministry, and social justice. This dissertation would also particularly point to avenues of such research and theorizing in the Philippines and other parts of Asia.

