

ABSTRACT

Games are one of the sources of entertainment in the world. It is a continuously growing and continuously evolving facet of our daily lives, and as the world changes, so it does too. This game's main purpose, unlike most games, is to provide anyone with a good reason to run while also at the same time, to entertain and give a story to those who like to read and play. It gives the players a good time while playing it, while it also provides a well thought story as a driving force for the player to run and exercise.

The proponents developed the game for two purposes. These two are to provide entertainment for the players and to allow them to be fit while having a reason for running and exercise.

This study was evaluated by gamers, non-gamers, Android users, non-Android users, runners, and non-runners. Based on the application evaluation, this game received a satisfactory remark in the areas of entertainment, game factor, running experience, and user friendliness.

Based on all the conducted research and development, the proponents believe that this game is entertaining to both Android and non-Android users, as well as to runners and non-runners. This game could provide them a reason as to run and exercise with a good story and gameplay.