

ABSTRACT

Rapid Lithographic and Publishing, Inc. is a commercial printing press located at Xavierville Subdivision, Loyola Heights, Quezon City. With its roots from Cebu City in 1978, it has then transferred to Manila with its vision of providing quality printing service to its clientele.

The business routines undertaken by the company gives them the opportunity to show the service they are capable of, yet it is not enough that they stop there, as they believe that improvements for the betterment of the business is a must for them to further advance themselves towards innovation.

As a result, the proponents have decided to take into consideration the company's system, and how to infuse the innovation that the company has been visualizing. It is believed that the addition of such a system is essential to the tasks being done by the company, by making the system flexible to any need that may arise; aside from that, it will also help the people within Rapid, Inc. in being efficient in providing the service being demanded by clients.

The development of the RAPID-TPIS was a product of careful analysis and prudent study. The methodology used here was an integration of concepts that the proponents have learned throughout their tenure as students, each one contributing their own skills for a meaningful and successful endeavor.
