

ABSTRACT

Saint Benedict College is a Christian Institution for learning established by the Benedictine monks in 1972 at its present location in Alabang Hills Village, Muntinlupa City. Having different abilities and interests, incoming third year high school students are given the chance to maximize their learning by choosing the best learning environment suitable for their capabilities and interests through the Career Track Scheme that the school provides.

The Saint Benedict College career track scheme for high school students is divided into three major groups: the Medical Science, the Physical Science, the Liberal Arts and Commerce group, which gives the students in the third and fourth year level an overview of fields that they consider taking for their college degree.

There are many factors to consider in determining a student's career group. Several tests are given such as diagnostic tests: PACT and POIS. They also consider the student academic records and the preferred career for him by his parents and from the student himself.

Inside the career group, the learning environment takes a step higher by focusing on the career. Aside from the regular high school academics, additional elective subjects are given which made especially for the respective groups.
